

Advisory Board Members

01.02.15

Often a young technology company will seek assistance from more experienced individuals, giving them the position of "Advisory Board Member" and giving equity to a person who agrees to serve in that capacity. This designation should not be taken lightly. There is no question that a young company can get tremendous benefit from having an... Continue Reading