

Court Holds That Former Broker Did Not Owe Fiduciary Duties To Client Regarding An Investment

08.18.17

In Holmes v. Newman, the plaintiff made an investment in a start-up internet company that provided betting tips to gamblers for a fee. No. 01-16-00311-CV, 2017 Tex. App. LEXIS 6177 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] July 6, 2017, no pet. history). The defendant, Newman, worked at TD Ameritrade and the plaintiff, Holmes, was a customer. Newman.....

Continue Reading