

Advisory Board Members

06.24.13

Have you thought about having advisory board members? If so, in exchange for their expertise, you will probably be giving them some equity in your company. An advisory board can be a huge benefit but it's important to have a clear agreement with each of your advisory board members. A few of the matters that... Continue Reading