

Virtual Reality Goes To Court: Lessons Learned From The $500 Million Jury Verdict Against Facebook's Oculus Division

02.10.17

The ink is barely dry on the half billion dollar verdict that a Dallas federal court jury returned last week for ZeniMax Media against Oculus, a virtual reality company that Facebook acquired in May 2014. Even before the federal court issues a final judgment and Oculus files an inevitable appeal, however, the case provides valuable... Continue Reading