

Can We Keep the Band Together: Seeking Long-Term Harmony Among Business Partners

09.04.18

The statistics are grim on relationships remaining intact between business partners. This month's edition of Inc. magazine cites Noam Wasserman, entrepreneurship professor at USC's Marshall School of Business, reporting that 10% of co-founders end their business relationship in less than one year and 45% break-up within four years. While these statistics are focused on two-person...
