

Attorney Responsible for Insider-Trading Compliance Faces Charges of...Insider Trading

02.18.19

The SEC recently announced insider-trading charges against the former senior lawyer at Apple specifically tasked with ensuring insider-trading compliance at the company.[1] The Department of Justice also addressed this case of "the fox guarding the hen house" by filing criminal charges against the former Apple attorney. The defendant, Gene Daniel Levoff, denies all charges and...