

Partnership Blues: Can a Bad Business Partner be Removed by the Company's Majority Owner When No Buy-Sell Agreement Exists?

06.10.19

As we noted in a previous post (Read Here), the disruption and dysfunction caused by a bad business partner who holds a substantial minority stake in the company can lead to the ultimate failure of the business.[1] This is especially true when the company founder has no buy-sell agreement in place that will allow him/her to...
