

Fraud in the Time of Covid-19

04.06.20

By Toby M. Galloway, Matthias Kleinsasser, Joe Wielebinski In sports, it is often said that "winning cures everything." The same concept applies to uncovering fraud. When the economy is strong and most investors are making money, there is little incentive to ask difficult questions about a company's performance. Once the economy craters, however, investors begin...