

Attorney For Lender Did Not Owe Any Fiduciary Duties To Borrower As An Escrow Agent

07.15.20

In JTREO, Inc. v. Hightower & Assocs., the buyer of a note and mortgage sued the attorney for the lender who facilitated the transaction by loaning money to the buyer for breach of fiduciary duty arising from the fact that there was no mortgage title policy endorsement as represented in the transaction. No. 03-19-00255-CV 2020... Continue Reading