

Understanding the Basics of Cooperation Credit in False Claims Act Matters

10.26.20

It's no secret that the Department of Justice has made the False Claims Act ("FCA") a priority for years. Last month, we discussed why regulatory changes in response to Covid-19 (e.g., STARK waivers) could provide additional bases for the government to bring FCA cases. This post addresses the basics of cooperation credit for defendants who... Continue Reading...