

Use Of Equitable Defenses In Breach Of Fiduciary Duty Litigation

12.06.20

A. Introduction It is not uncommon for beneficiaries to sue a trustee for actions that the beneficiaries had knowledge of but where they failed to object to that conduct for a period of time. In this circumstance, the trustee may want to raise certain equitable defenses to those claims, such as laches, ratification, waiver, and... Continue Reading