

SpaceCom is Coming to Houston

11.20.14

Houston, TX, Nov. 20, 2014 — Winstead Shareholder Denis Braham is a board member and local business leader supporting a space commerce conference coming to Houston in November 2015. SpaceCom was announced this week in the Houston market as the premiere conference being developed in collaboration with the NASA Johnson Space Center.

The annual industry event will focus on the economic development of space and the application of space technologies across key industry sectors of the global economy. The first SpaceCom will be held on Nov. 17-19, 2015, at the George R. Brown Convention Center.

SpaceCom is being produced as a partnership between the Greater Houston Convention and Visitors Bureau, Houston First Corporation and National Trade Productions, Inc.
