

Christopher Robertson

Associate

Practices: Business Litigation

Christopher represents clients in all facets of business litigation from case evaluation, mediation and arbitration, through trial. He manages disputes involving eminent domain/condemnation, business torts, employment, and media law in both state and federal courts. He works closely with clients to develop effective plans for resolving disputes and managing litigation while remaining focused on the best outcome possible for the client's business. During law school, Christopher served as a judicial intern for The Honorable Lynn N. Hughes, U.S. District Court, Southern District of Texas.

Representative Experience

- Representing oil and gas pipeline company as eminent domain litigation and transactional counsel in connection with construction of a 509-mile crude pipeline, through portions of Texas from Midland County to Harris County
- Representing oil and gas pipeline company as eminent domain litigation and transactional counsel in connection with construction of a 504-mile natural gas liquids pipeline, through portions of Texas from Brown County to San Jacinto County

Professional & Community Service

- State Bar of Texas
- Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo (Steer Auction Committee)
- Houston Young Lawyers Association
- International Right of Way Association
- Eagle Scout

Admissions

- Texas, 2019
- U.S. District Court, Southern District of Texas

Houston Office

713.650.2469 Direct

713.650.2400 Fax

crobertson@winstead.com

Education

South Texas College of Law

– J.D., 2018

– cum laude

– South Texas Law Review, Articles Editor

– Order of the Barristers

– Order of the Scribes

Texas A&M University

– B.S., Agricultural Economics, 2012