

Travis Renna

Associate

Practices: Corporate, Commercial Transactions & Outsourcing

Industries: Airlines

Travis Renna represents clients on a variety of aviation transactions, including aircraft interiors procurement, engine purchasing, leasing, and customer loyalty, but primarily focuses on airframe and engine maintenance. His extensive maintenance experience includes negotiating agreements involving engines, airframe heavy maintenance, line and on-call maintenance, wheels and brakes, landing gear, and other components of an aircraft.

Travis works closely with in-house counsel and business personnel to advise them on complex transactions involving prominent vendors in the aviation industry. He utilizes his experience and skillset to anticipate client needs and resolve problems that may arise during the negotiation process to ensure that there are no interruptions to the client's operational needs.

He also has experience representing clients in bankruptcy and restructuring matters, both on the creditor and debtor side.

Travis is a contributing writer for Winstead's Airlines Blog.
